Extracts from a letter from Sergeant J. S. Degman to his parents:

COLUMBI, P. I., February 26th.

I received a letter from you today which makes the second since my arrival here, January 5th. I was located at Blockhouse No. 5 when I wrote you before. We moved from there to the waterworks East of Manila January 26th, where we stayed till last Monday, when after a light breakfast consisting of rice, bread and coffee we were marched about six miles Northwest where we boarded a train. The road was a narrow gauge, the cars small and flat were about 12 feet long by 8 wide, with a siding about 1 foot high all round. We were crowded into them as close as we could sit, and brought here. We were several hours on the way although the distance was said to be only thirty-five miles. We were hungry enough to enjoy our supper which we ate about 8 p. m. We then spread our blankets on the grass, of which there is an abundance, and slept, our only shelter being the stars. Some time during the night I awoke and found it raining. I was tired so I turned over and went to sleep again. At this place we relieved two companies of the Third Infantry.

Our squad is composed as follows: Camp guard-12 privates, 3 non-commissioned; baggage guard, 2 miles South on the railroad-12 privates, 3 non-commissioned; Rio Grande Bridge guard, a little to the North of camp-1 private and 2 non-commissioned; and one outpost on the bank of the river West of camp-3 privates and 1 non-commissioned. So you see with so many posts to guard and only 42 men we are kept busy. We are not allowed to move 30 yards from our post without our arms. We are compelled to be constantly on the watch for the sashery of the natives is only equalled by their laziness. They will sit around of night and shoot whenever and wherever they can, then in the morning put on white clothes which denotes "peace" and come around camp begging something to eat. Our camp is delightfully situated near shaded pools that are the finest places in the world for bathing. This sounds odd in February, doesn't it? They are not here as yet as I over saw. Every family has shawls or four. It is reported that there is gold in the Northern part of Luzon, but we will not look for it for while at

AVOID THE FACTS!

CITE THE LAW.

But the Court of Appeals Refuses to Deal With the Facts.

LAW INTERPRETED; FACTS IGNORED.

"It is earnestly argued," says the majority opinion of the Kentucky Appellate Court, "that the General Assembly was wrong in its decision of this case, and that it is a very serious matter thus to overthrow the will of the people. Whether the Assembly was right or not in its decision it is not our province to determine."

But a much more important question is involved in the case, which is the integrity of our form of Government, as founded by our forefathers. If the action of the Legislature may be disregarded by the Courts, then it is no longer an equal and independent branch of the Government within its Constitutional jurisdiction, but the Courts become the final depository of the supreme power of the state. Judicial tyranny is no less tyranny because couched in the forms of law.

For these reasons we are of the opinion that the Courts of this state are without authority to enter into the inquiry sought in this case, and that the journals of the General Assembly are conclusive of the controversy. The judgment of the lower Court being in accordance with these views, is, therefore, affirmed."

"Concerning in the conclusion of this majority report purely as a technical proposition of law, Judges Guffey and Brannan, the latter speaking, say they have been, with some reluctance, to least. Three of us managed to secure leave of absence for a day's scouting on our own account, so yesterday morning we started early, going North. I wish I could describe the beauty of the scenery, the luxuriance of vegetation, magnificent views like fairyland, but I cannot, it would take too long. We tramped all day, our only stop being at a sugar mill where we had an interesting chat with the overseer who was a Spaniard. We went due North 'till we struck the river then followed it back to camp where we arrived just in time for retreat a little tired and footsore, but thoroughly pleased with our trip. I hope you will not be so anxious about me. Just think of me as having a good time, being more of the world than I ever was, and that I am enjoying perfect health, then you will gladden the heart of your soldier boy.

the conclusion, and not without some misgivings as to its correctness, that there is no power in the Courts of this state to review the findings of the General Assembly in a contested election for the offices of Governor and Lieutenant-Governor, as shown by its only authenticated records.

"In my opinion," says Judge DuBoille, dissenting, "the record upon which the petition in this case is based shows on its face affirmatively that the Board of Contest had no jurisdiction of the matter which it undertook to try. It is not a mere defective notice. It excluded the possibility of jurisdiction. I think, therefore, that the demurrer to the answer should have been carried back to the petition and sustained."

These are sample conclusions of the Kentucky Court of Appeals. In none except the last is there attempt to review facts. All the other Judges confined themselves strictly to the points of law involved in their right to review Legislative action. Except Judge DuBoille, none undertook to discuss the regularity of the Legislative action. All the others simply accepted the records as exhibited by the Clerks of House and Senate, holding that the correctness of these was not matter of Court revision, and the irregularities hidden behind them were beyond the Court's legitimate view. The Court of Appeals in no sense has examined into or passed upon the right of Governor Taylor or of Mr. Beekman to the office. It simply decided that upon the face of the Legislative record that question had been passed on by the tribunal which had final jurisdiction, and beyond that exhibit the Court could not probe.

Caught a Dreadful Cold. Marion Cooke, manager for T. M. Thompson, a large importer of fine millinery at 1016 Milwaukee avenue, Chicago, says: "During the late severe weather I caught a dreadful cold which kept me awake at night and made me unfit to attend my work during the day. One of my milliners was taking Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a severe cold at that time, which seemed to relieve her so quickly that I thought none for myself. It acted like magic and I began to improve at once. I am now entirely well and feel very pleased to acknowledge its merits." For sale by J. Jas. Wood & Son, Druggists.

The funeral of Mrs. Garrett S. Wall was largely attended last afternoon, the Daughters of the Confederacy being present in a body. The floral offerings were many and beautiful, evidencing the affection in which Mrs. Wall was held. The solemn religious services were conducted by the Rev. D. D. Chapin of the Church of the Nativity, assisted by the Rev. Howard T. Crook of the Christian Church, after which the remains were laid to rest by tender hands, to await that reunion which is to endure forever.

The Best Remedy for Rheumatism.

QUICK RELIEF FROM PAIN. All who use Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism are delighted with the quick relief from pain which is afforded. When speaking of this Mr. B. N. Sims, of Troy, Ohio, says: "Some time ago I had a severe attack of rheumatism in my arm and shoulder. I tried numerous remedies but got no relief. I was recommended by Messrs. Geo. F. Parsons & Co., druggists of this place, to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. They recommended it to me as being a home remedy, and soon relieved of all pain. I have since recommended the balm to many of my friends, who agree with me that it is the best remedy for rheumatism in the market." For sale by J. Jas. Wood & Son, Druggists.
